

【ABSTRACT】

A dishwasher includes a control panel, a front panel disposed at the front of the control panel, a front display unit that slidably couples to at least one of the control panel and the front panel and is disposed between the control panel and the front panel, and a sliding latch and a latch mounting slot that allow the front display unit to be slidably coupled.